

Sponsored by Newton Youth Services

Creating Successful Students

Strategies for reducing academic stress, conquering procrastination, and strengthening executive function skills at home

Thursday, December 7th, 6:30- 8:00pm

Druker Auditorium,
Newton Free Library

Please RSVP to Newton Youth Services at youthservices@newtonma.gov

Please join Dan Levine and Melissa Wilson of Engaging Minds, an after school learning center with locations in Newton and Natick, for a workshop designed specifically for for high school parents and students together. In this workshop participants will learn:

- Strategies to help your student better manage their nightly homework
- Planning and time management strategies for both short-term and long-term assignments – and for life!
- Strategies to help your student get “unstuck” when they have trouble initiating tasks
- Organizational strategies to help your student keep track of their papers, assignments, and belongings
- And more!

This workshop is free and open to the public.

www.engagingmindsonline.com

188 Needham Street, Newton
190 N. Main St., Natick
617-964-3100
info@engagingmindsonline.com

